COVERED DEVICE RECYCLING ACT

Beginning January 24, 2013, a disposal ban on covered devices went into effect in Pennsylvania. Televisions, desktop computers, laptop computers, computer monitors, computer peripherals, and any components of such devices may no longer be disposed of with their municipal waste. These devices must be properly recycled.

Haulers:

- May not intentionally accept covered devices for disposal from any source of waste, and may not knowingly commingle covered devices with waste destined for disposal.
- Covered devices that are collected from consumers through electronics collection programs in Pennsylvania must continue to be transferred to certified electronics recycling facilities.
